WILLIAM T'S FAST MILE.

THE SON OF FAUSTUS COVERS THE DISTANCE IN 1:41 1-4,

And Breaks the Season's Record in the East-Equity Only a Neck Behind-Dr. Street's Two-year-olds are First and Second in the Opening Duch at Mt. Asaph-George Dixon, a Strong Tip, Wine In Good Time-Capt, Brown' Watchman, and Hern Are the Other Winners,

WASHINGTON, April 1 .- That good four-yearold colt William T., by Faustus, out of Madam Rowett, ran the fastest mile of the season in the East at St. Asaph to-day, going the distance in 1:41%, with game Equity at his shoulder at the wire. When the flag fell William T., who was a slight favorite over Equity, was rushed to the front by Frank O'Leary, who had the mount on the Missouri-bred sprinter. He began so rapidly that all of his competitors were outstripped, the first quarter being covered in 2216 seconds, and the three furlongs in 35% seconds. Capt. T. was second and Equity third. The fearful pace was maintained to the half-mile pole, which was reached in 47% seconds, and the watches of a hundred men registered 1:00% at the five-furiong pole. All records for the track were going by the board, and there was a whistle of surprise when the six-furlong pole was passed in 1:1336. Equity was doing all hat she could to catch William T., but little Maher, who rode her, is a novice, and he was of no use to her. Nevertheless the game daughter of Bend Or struggled on, and O'Leary, taking sings rather easy, was forced to ride William ". a little in order to win by a neck in 1:41%. The seven furlongs were separately timed in

T. a little in order to win by a neck in 1:41½. The seven furlongs were separately timed in 1:27.

Dr. Street started two pretty smart two-year-olds in the opening dash at half a mile, the public making his filly Summertime an odds on favorite. The daughter of Fitzjames won, but she had to be ridden out to the last ounce by Nacey so as to stave off the rush made by Old Age at the ifinish. Old Age is Street's gelding by Tyrant, out off Frugality. The Poctor was exceedingly warm because the boy Loates showed the gelding up. "I was saving him," said Street, "to take the measure of Daly's champion, The Hartford, and now everybody knows as much about him as I do." Some of the riders in the first race could acarcely sit on their horses, and one of them, L. Smith, will not be allowed to ride again until he improves.

The tip for the second race among the initiated was theore Dixon, the handsome little son of Tom Martin, owned by Andrew Thompson. The Kelp and George Dixon raced head and head for half a mile. The former then gave way to Darkness and Pulltzer, both of whom chased the favorite home, but could never overtake him, Dixon winning hard held by Keefe in the good time of 1:29½.

Capt. Brown was always the favorite for the heavy handleap at six furlongs, going to the post at 8 to 5. There was a short, determined plunge on Comanche, and the friends of Charade rallied to the support of the winner of the Metropolitan in 1893, who had his old rider, Doggett, in the saddle. Golden Gate was the pacsmaker to the upper turn closely attended by the favorite, with Charade heading the others. On the upper turn Capt. Brown took command of affairs, and Clerico did not have to hurry him is order to wis by a length. Charade caught Golden Gate near the wire, and was second by a good neck.

Popular Frank Clark, the superintendent of the Long Island Jockey Club's track, won the race for maidens with Watchman, a son of Wilful and Whizigg III. who opened at 6 and 7 to 1, and was backed down to 3 to 1 at the post. Blent Friend was su

THE HORSE AND CARRIAGE TRADE.

Big Sales of Harness and Saddle Stock During the Next Six Weeks, One of the features of this week's dealings in the horse market will be the opening to-morrow m of a series of notable combination sales of harness and saddle stock to be held during the next six weeks at the American Horse Exchange, under the management of W. D. Grand. The leading consignment in to-mor-row's sale comprises fifty selected steppers from W. C. Bryant's El Dorado Farm, Marion, Ia. At the Twenty-fourth street horse market I. H. Dahiman's new auction mart continues to attract a majority of the best buyers and sellers. Twice each week, Mondays and Thursdays, 300 animals change hands under the hammer, Yesterday's sale included every kind of horses. Prices were apparently a trifle higher than was the case a month ago, but good horses are still selling at astonishingly low figures.

In the rush of spring trade Charles F. Bates of the New York Coach Horse and Cob Company has sold his noted tandem leader and all-around high stepper Cadet to a Boston man. This horse was one of the meat admired prize winners of the last National Horse Show, and at the Durland show last week he was again in the list of prize winners. Cadet was formerly known as Harry Wikes, and was bred and trained to be a trotter, his sire being France's Allie Wilkes, 2:16, and his dam a daughter of Joe Hazzard.

Now that the spring season for driving is fairly opened, some of the carriage builders are showing a remarkably fine line of traps and carts. At McLaughlin's, Broadway and Fifty-first street, the display of park turnouts is one of the most varied and extensive that have ever been seen in New York. Studebaker Brothers of Canal street, near Broadway, have on show in their warerooms a most complete assortment of fancy traps, phaetons, surreys, wagonettes, and other fine vehicles for pleasure driving. The display at Van Tassell & Kearner's, East Thirteenth street, tills four floors of the big repository, and it is well worth seeing. At the factory of J. M. Quinby & Co., opposite Broad arrest station of the D. L., and W. Railway in Newark, is another fine assortment of carriages and traps of new design. One of the features of the vehicles made by this firm is the Quinby spring.

NEW YORK STOCKHOLDERS MEET, And the Members of the Team Are Agrably Surprised by the Precident.

The bad weather kept the New York players indoors yesterday, but the rest did them no harm. All the players went to beadquarters, where they were surprised to find a drawer full of money, of which they were invited to take what they wanted. The coin was undoubtedly most welcome, for the reason that several "crap" games had depleted the purses of several of the stars. If the weather is favorable to-day the men will begin regular practice. They are all in superb shape, barring Van Haltren, who had a surgeon examine his wrenched shoulder. Van was ordered not to play ball for a week at least, as he is suffering wrenched shoulder. Van was ordered not to play ball for a week at least, as he is suffering from a contusion.

Rusie's condition can be imagined by those who have sot seen him, when it is learned that he tips the scales at 210 pounds. Last season he weighed 238.

The New York Club stockholders held a business meeting in the Fuller Building, Jersey City, yesterday afternoon. Those present were Andrew Freedman, Valentine P. Snyder, John B. Day, J. W. Spalding, C. F. Dillingham, and John T. Brush. About 2,100 shares of 2,390 were represented. It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the club on the Tuesday preceding the annual fall meeting of the National League. This was done so as to secure the attendance of the out of town stockholders, who generally attend the league meeting. The other business transacted was of a private nature and was not disclosed.

The contest among the various college teams for the lowing cup presented by the New York Club is attracting a great deal of interest. The only cause for regret is that the Harvard varsity nine will not face Davis's men. There are several open dates, however, and if the Cambridge players can get away for a day they will receive plenty of compensation for making the trip. The club has already appointed three judges to decide the question of rapings the trip. The club has already appointed three judges to decide the question of rapings the trip. The club has already appointed three judges to decide the question of supremacy. They are E. B. Taloott, John B. Day, and Frank McKee, all non-college men, and consequently non-partisan. Manager Davis has decided to pit Rusie, Meekin, and German against each team for three innings apiece, so that the contest will be equal for all.

Jim Stafford was praised on all sides by the players of the team. James is modest, and does not like to talk about himself, but he is so anxious to succeed that he said to a Sun reporter:

"I can play second base to the satisfaction of everybody, but it want the patrons of the game to be fair

it. He said that if I did the best I could I would be all right, and I'm going to try."

Manager Davis will have a talk with Catcher Schriver this morning and may take him to the Polo grounds to see what kind of shape he is in, If Davis decides to sign him, President Freedman will try to secure his release from the Chicago Club. Boswell is also expected to report for duty, as Davis wants to see how he can pitch.

ON THE BALL FIELD.

Brooklyn Colts Beat the Regulars in s Short Came-Other Cames.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1 .- To-day's ball game between the Brooklyn regulars and colts was the most interesting that has been played here. defeat of the regulars by the colts, and plainly showed their approbation of the fine fielding, showed their approbation of the fine fielding, the quick and snappy plays, and the timely hitting of both teams. The boys are improving day by day, and are putting up a great game, both in the field and at the bat. The people in this city are greatly enthused over the work of the team, and pick them for sure pennant winners. The cranks here, who are great admirers of Manager Foutz's boys, say that they have never seen a more gentlemanly ball team than his.

The boys have acted the part which seems natural to them, of gentlemen on every occasion, and have made a great many friends in Augusta. Tom Daly's work at second was of the phenomenal order, and to-day he received great applause for his great work. Foutz also put up a great game at first, and saved many an error by catching wild throws which seemed impossible to reach. Anderson is making wonderful strides to the front both as a fielder and hitter. In to-day's game he made one of the hardest hits ever made on the Augusta grounds. The hit netted four bases. Both Pitchers Gumbert did some very fine and heady work and pitched steady ball throughout the entire game. Gumbert did some very fine and heady work, and at critical times seemed invincible, the regulars being unable to do anything at all with his delivery. The score:

STARK'S FINE BILLIARDS.

HE BEATS FRED OAKES OF THE LIEDERKRANZ, 800 TO 183.

The Amulet Cifts of Ris Friends Are Backed Up by Stunning Carrons-His Rival's Open Table Play Is Strong, but He Is Conquered by Beautiful Position Shots-A Run of 48 Settles the Contest J. Byron Stark, the new Manhattan A. C. expert, played off the second game of the triple tie in the interclub amateur tourney with Fred Oakes, the Liederkranz favorite, at Maurice Daly's Brooklyn Assembly Rooms last night. Stark was required by his handleap to score 300 before Oakes reached 250. In the regular tourney games Oakes defeated Stark, scoring 250 to his adversary's 261. Stark is not at all superstitious, so he says, but when he entered the Academy last night both of his trouser pockets were loaded down with rabbit feet. They were the gifts of all his friends, including Daly, Slosson, Arnould, Townend, Gallagher, Harrison, Wheeler, and everybody who admires Stark's graceful billiards tle it ought to be proof that all the blank non-sense about mascots ought to bedone away with. Stark appeared to be generally the favorite with the gay billiard lovers when the game started, and his brilliant billiards, turned out with speedy skill, put him ahead of his rival at the start, and he played with an air of confidence. Stark turned the first wire shead of his friendly rival with a score of 120 to 86. Stark was playing for the first time without his collar, having removed it for comfort. Directly afterward Oakes turned his first wire, too, with a total of 102 to his rival's 148. The score showed that up to that point Stark was practically holding his own. Oakes kept turning out some of his really remarkable open table carroms, meantime, though his efforts with the cue were mainly confined to singles. Oakes sipped ice water while Stark playfully hugged the numerous amulets in his pockets. This part of the game was real fun for pockets. This part of the game was real fun for him.

The closeness of the battle was evidenced by the fact that in the thirty-fourth inning each player stood even, with 132 points to go, handicap allowed for. Stark was just 7 points behind by handicap when he turned his second wire with exactly 200 to Oakes's 143. It was getting to be a game for bleed, and Oakes was holding his jwn by opening work against Stark's more expert position play.

The well-known rivalry between the two had its effect on each contestant in keeping him from doing his very best. Both were worried, and the spectators saw it plainly. Stark raced ahead of his handicap after that, and with an exquisitely played run that netted a total of 43 he gained a lead of more than 100 on his opponent. The scores stood at the end of the run: Stark, 274; Oakes, 104. Oakes knocked out a lot of fancy carroms, bank and bridge shots, but the game was up and he knew it, as his smile indicated. Stark finished an easy winner, scoring 300 to the Liederkranz boy's 183. It was a triumph for the man overloaded with amulets. The score:

Stark—0, 0, 6, 5, 15, 1, 9, 0, 0, 1, 17, 0, 12, 6, 8, 4, 0, 0, 2, 1, 24, 8, 4, 5, 0, 6, 15, 18, 2, 0, 1, 0, 6, 5, 17, 8, 1,

ATLANTIC TACHTSMEN MEET.

They Decide to Combine with the Larch-mont Cinb for a Cruise, The members of the Atlantic Yacht Club held their long looked for special meeting last evening in the banquet hall of the Waldorf. There was a large attendance, and Commodore George J. Gould presided for the first time since his election to office, while Col. David E. Austen acted as Secretary.

The first business before the meeting was the ratification of article 19 of the constitution relating to life members, and hereafter those who have belonged to the club for fifteen years can become members upon paying $100. Other members will have to pay $250, and their number was limited to twenty.

On motion of Newberry D. Lawton, Latham A. Fish of the schooner Grayling was elected an

A. Fish of the schooner Grayling was elected an honorary member.

A committee consisting of H. A. Gouge, J. M. Foots, and T. L. Arnold presented resolutions of condolence on the death of Eugene Maxwell, which were passed unanimously. Mr. Arnold then moved that the resolution passed at the annual meeting fixing the date of the cruise for August be rescined, which was carried. Vice-Commodore F. T. Adams offered the following resolution:

Angust be rescined, which was carried. Viewindore F. T. Adams offered the following resolution:

That the next annual cruise be held in the month of July. That the fleet rendervous in Larchmont Harbor on Friday, July 12, and combine with the Larchmont Yacht Club fleet and cruise in company subject to such directions as the Caprisis may decide upon at a meeting to be held on the flagship of the ranking flag officer of the combined fleet at Larchmont or Friday evening, July 12. That a committee of two, with the Commodore, with full power, be appointed to meet a like committee of the Larchmont Club to arrange pre-liminaries and details necessary.

This was carried unanimously, and a committee consisting of Vice-Commodore Adams and John L. Bliss was appointed to act with the Commodores and confer with a similar committee representing the Larchmont Yacht Club.

The idea which was first broached in The Sun some days ago seems to have found great favor with the members of both organizations. According to one yachtsman the idea is to have the clubs race one day under the Larchmont flag and one day under the colors of the Atlantic Club. If the plan goes through which it is almost certain to do now, over $2,500 in prizes will be offered by the two clubs, which is far more than the New York Yacht Club offers for its annual outing, so some great racing should ensue.

The new classification presented by the Regatta Committee was passed with some modifications as follows:

THE AILSA A WONDERFUL BOAT.

The Field, in speaking of Allsa's work in the Bennett-Goelet Cup race at Cannes on March 14, says:

"There was just breeze enough coming in from the Mediterranean to darken the surface of the Bay of Napoule, and, as a trial of speed between the Ailsa and Britannia, the race was simply a repetition of the first and only previous contest between the pair. Had Ailsa's gear only stood and allowed her to take part in the match from Cannes to Monte Carlo on the preceding Saturday, something more of her powers would have been known; but, without a shadov of doubt, she justified our first opinion, which was to the effect that she is far and away the fastest big cutter in light weather ever built in Britain or America. She gained a victory to-day of upward of thirteen minutes over Britannia, and she was far from being seen at her best. The broken main hal-yard block had been temporarily replaced by M. Garracchio of Nice, with one weighing but little short of a hundredweight, as the new one was not finished. The "main" did not fall down to-day. The topmast rigging, however, was so muchon the stretch that the jp-topsail had to be pulled down in the first round while the standing gear was being setup, and on the was so much on the stretch that the Jipt-topsail had to be pulled down in the lirst round while the standing gear was being setup, and on the last turn of the course the gaff, which it is feared was crippled on Saturday when the smash happened, was bending to such an extent when on a broad reach that the mainsheet had to be eased off to save the spar. Alisa's skipper had one hand so badly sprained that he only steered the vessel going round marks; and, by way of wind up, we may say that two matches without any other stretching do not suffice to get a new suit of racing canvas in proper shape. In course of time we think the Alisa will have as perfect a suit of sails as has ever been turned out. Going to windward and free reaching were again the striking points in Alisa's racing display, and it may be said that when she is doing her close-hauled work she seems to settle down uncommonly by the head. She is a vessel, however, very easily tipped. Britannia, which had a stern chase ail day, was as perfectly and smartly handled as usual; but in the Alisa she has found her superior—In light winds and smooth water at least."

The same paper in speaking of their race at Monaco on Sunday, March 17, says:

"The fact that the Alisa and Britannia took part in a regatta is the Mediterranean on a Sanday has brought forth some remarks in Scotch papers, and the case against the yachts appears to be aggravated in the eyes of the saints because Monaco was the venue. It certainly is very much against our ideas of propriety that the rope hauling and shouting of match sailing should be a Sunday observance; but Englishmen, when at Monaco or clsewhere out of sight of Mrs. Grundy, are very apt to fall in with the particular kind of observance; but Englishmen, when at Monaco or clsewhere out of sight of Mrs. Grundy, are very apt to fall in with the particular kind of observance; but Englishmen, when at Monaco or clsewhere out of sight of Mrs. Grundy, are very apt to fall in with the particular kind of observance; but Englishmen, when at

A LETTER FROM DUNRAYEN. He Objects to a Big Crew-The Valkyrio's IH. Maitland Kersey, who has just returned from a Southern trip, received a letter by yes-terday's mail from Lord Dunraven. In it the Earl says that he has decided to postpone the settlement of the crew question and live ballast in the coming international races for the America's Cup until he arrives here. He takes this step, he explains, because being now ignorant of what boat may be asked to defend the cup, he prefers to wait until he comes here, in the hope of coming to an agreement with the owner or owners of the cup defender. Lord Dunraven also gives his reasons for opposing a big crew. The two boats, defender and challenger, will have to be measured with all hands on board, and a craft that is obliged to ship twenty or more extra men because of a puffy day is not properly designed according to his ideas. The letter concludes by saying that the frames of the new Valkyrle were all up on March 22, and that Capit.
